

Australian F-59 Graeme K. Windsor is the new President/CEO of the International Skydiving Museum & Hall of Fame Board of Trustees. He succeeds James F. (Curt) Curtis, III, who had served in the position since 2014.

Graeme has devoted his life to skydiving since his first jump in October 1968 in Papua New Guinea. He has won many Australian national championship medals in style, accuracy, para-ski, and formation skydiving, and has competed extensively in FAI World Championships, winning the 1982 team accuracy bronze medal in Lučenec, Czechoslovakia. He has been a national coach, an operations and safety manager, a chief instructor, an instructor examiner and a parachute rigger. He was a member of the Australian Parachute Federation (APF) board, including stints as chairman, alternate IPC delegate and later the delegate. He was the APF chief executive officer, retiring in 2008. Graeme has served in almost every capacity during his illustrious career, including terms as head of delegation, controller and jury member at several world championships. He is the longest serving president (nine years) of the FAI's International Parachuting Commission. The FAI made him a Companion of Honour and he is an FAI President of Honour, having served as president of the Air Sports General Commission from 2011 to 2016. He is currently a member of the executive board of the FAI. In 2017, Graeme was inducted into the International Skydiving Hall of Fame.

Graeme still jumps regularly, with over 7,000 jumps, and he competed at the 2018 World Parachuting Championships in Bulgaria. He is the Air Sport Australia Confederation treasurer and was a member of the organizing committee for the 2018 World Parachuting Championships held in Queensland, Australia. In 2017, the Australian Parachute Federation recognized Graeme with its highest award, Master of Sport Parachuting, for his outstanding representation in competition and administration for nearly 50 years. He was awarded the Order of Australia Medal (OAM) by the Governor-General of Australia in January 2018 for services to parachuting.

Graeme joined the museum's board in 2017. He became chair of the Development Committee in 2018 and was elected vice president in 2020.

Sherry Butcher has joined the museum's board of trustees. Sherry made her first jump in May 1993 and now has just under 10,000 jumps in her 30 years of skydiving. Her education includes a bachelor's degree in psychology and a master's degree in social work. She is a real estate investor and broker of her own real estate company, ACC Home Realty, which opened in 2009 and continues today. Sherry began her skydiving instructional career as a static line jump master, then became an AFF instructor, tandem instructor, senior rigger and Skydive University coach by 1998. The master rigger ticket soon followed. She has been running AerOhio Skydiving since 1996, and still completely loves making new skydivers! Her passion for teaching led her to become an active coach and AFF examiner, and she still enjoys teaching courses, running the skydiving center, organizing, coaching, and making AFF jumps today. Sherry has served on the United States Parachute Association Board of Directors since 2001, serving many years as secretary and one term as president, and she is now in her second term as vice president. She has two sons who grew up on the DZ and are both actively continuing the family skydiving and aviation legacy. Sherry is most proud of her work with the Safety & Training Committee in the development of training methods and programs that have been implemented all over the world, and being part of a bigger team to push the skydiving industry to a higher level of professionalism with highly improved safety standards. She is now dedicated to the museum and making sure our skydiving history is documented and appreciated for all to see in the future. Sherry is a member of the museum's Development Committee.

Blue Skies Forever!
